October 2014 – September 2015 Annual Report

DENTAL LIFELINE NETWORK ALABAMA

Laura, age 16 and living in Alabaster, suffered from chronic pain. A screening concluded that she needed orthodontic care, but treatment was unaffordable to her family. Laura was referred to Donated Dental Services (DDS). Her case took the combined efforts of DDS volunteers Drs. Thomas (Gerry) Walker, a general dentist, and Stephanie Whitehead, an orthodontist, to end her years of pain. Severe malalignment created periodontal and occlusion complications, contributing to Laura's headaches. Dr. Walker completed four extractions to clear the way for braces on her upper and lower teeth. Two years later, Laura's braces were removed in time for her high school graduation. DDS brings together talented general dentists, specialists and volunteer dental laboratories who want to give back.

“I used to get a lot of headaches because of my teeth, and after treatment I felt much better with Dr. Whitehead’s help. I didn’t like to smile - DDS helped me change that. It made me a lot more confident. It was a blessing. DDS changed my life. Thank you so much.”
– Laura, a DDS patient

“Laura was originally diagnosed to be a surgery case. I didn’t think we could get the results we did, but Laura worked so hard to maintain her braces – we had a beautiful result. You could tell it meant so much to her. My staff always feels good about helping someone who really needs it. DDS patients are so appreciative. I would encourage anyone to volunteer – it’s just so worth it. It’s a great experience for the family and life-changing for the patient.”
– Dr. Stephanie Whitehead, DDS volunteer orthodontist
